Meeting Discussion:

Peggy Esquibel Reed-Qwest stated that the meeting is for Qwest to conduct the exception vote for new QORA Edits and the exception request is to allow implementation of this CR prior to the normal implementation timeline. The CR is for QORA to implement new upfront edits and was presented at the September 21st Monthly CMP Meeting. Peggy then noted that quorum for the vote to occur is 9 and was achieved, due to the receipt of emailed votes. Peggy stated that a vote of yes would allow implementation on December 17th and a vote of no would not allow implementation on December 17th. Peggy stated that a unanimous vote is needed in order for the exception to be granted. Peggy then conducted the vote:

Qwest voted 'Yes' via email

RockyNet voted 'Yes' via email

Wentel voted 'Yes' via email

Sprint voted 'Yes' via email

VCI voted 'Yes' via email

Time Warner voted 'Yes' via email

Covad Abstained from the vote

Eschelon Abstained from the vote because the impacts were not yet clear

AT&T voted 'No'

Sharon Van Meter – AT&T stated that the no vote was due to the fact that AT&T is not yet aware of how the new edits would impact them. Sharon asked if the changes were to the business rules. Peggy Esquibel Reed-Qwest stated that coding depends on each individual company.

Stephanie Prull-Eschelon asked why these changes were not being implemented in an ASOG Release.

Peggy Esquibel Reed-Qwest stated that the edits were being implemented in a major release, it is not an ASOG Release.

Sharon Van Meter-AT&T stated that the CR was presented, then the vote taken quickly, before the CLECs could assess the impacts to their companies. Sharon then asked for an ad hoc call in order for Qwest to better explain the requested changes.

Peggy Esquibel Reed-Qwest stated that an ad hoc meeting would be scheduled in order for questions and concerns to be addressed.

Stephanie Prull-Eschelon stated that a vote should not be taken prior to the tech specs going out because the impacts are not yet known to the CLEC Community.

Peggy Esquibel Reed-Qwest thanked Stephanie for the feedback.

There were no additional questions or comments.

Peggy Stated that the exception was not granted by a vote of 7 'Yes' votes, 1 'No' votes, and 3 'Abstain' votes. Peggy then thanked all for their participation and feedback. Peggy stated that the vote disposition would be sent.

The call was concluded.
